THACKRAY
museum

The award-winning Thackray Museum is one of the UK's leading museums, telling the story of medicine and explaining how advances in medicine have changed our lives.

Central to the museum's core objectives is life-long learning and every year tens of thousands of people, of whom around half are school children, pour through the museum's doors to experience, understand and become enthused by the changes to our lives brought about by discoveries in medicine.

The Friends of the Thackray Museum is an active organisation, whose members act as a supporters' club for the museum. The Friends draw their membership from people like you, who are interested in medical history or who would like to support the museum and help to ensure its future.

The Friends contribute to the museum by fundraising, giving lectures in their fields of expertise, assisting with the cataloguing, research and conservation of the collections, helping with education activities, promoting the museum at exhibitions, writing articles for the newsletter or by helping in other ways.

Friends can enjoy:

- Free admission to the museum's galleries
- Invitations to exhibition openings and private views
- Access to the museum library and other resources
- Invitation to the Friends' lectures and other meetings
- A quarterly newsletter
- Behind-the-scenes tours at the museum
- Interesting visits
- Discounts for lectures and events at the museum
- Discounts at the museum shop
- Participating as a volunteer in the work of the museum
