

30th October 2008

Dear Sir/Madam,

In 2012 The Institute of Biomedical Science will be celebrating its centenary. As the oldest laboratory medicine professional body we are planning a year of events to celebrate this milestone and to honour and highlight the work, of our profession.

As we have 11 regions across the UK one of our aims is to develop a travelling exhibition that highlights the history of biomedical science. This could then be passed from region to region throughout the year. We are looking for suitable venues across the country that would house such an exhibition for approximately one month at a time.

We would love to be able to show the exhibition in science museums to keep a consistent and strong theme and would hope that this would be mutually beneficial for all by attracting people to your museum.

As we are still in the early planning stages my first step is to find out whether your museum would be interested in being involved in this project. It would also be useful to find out when you will begin to plan your exhibition programme for 2012. If you require any further information from me please do not hesitate to contact me.

Thank you for your time and I look forward to hearing from you.
Yours faithfully

Lucy Povey
Institute of Biomedical Science
12 Coldbath Square
London
EC1R 5HL

0207 713 0214 ext. 137
lucy@ibms.org